

The concentration of ownership and control of the media in the U.S. already has gone too far. People like Rupert Murdoch have too much power to control the information made available to Americans and the "slant" given to the news. Americans increasingly are turning to the BBC for unbiased news coverage. Please do not permit more concentration in the media.